About Me

My story is one of humble beginnings and the audacity to dream big. I embrace my life-long commitment to understand my value and lean into my worth. It has been undeniably challenging, but it's been most rewarding. Now, I'm on a mission to help every woman I meet learn to unapologetically own and embrace her worth. When we do that, we unlock a power that takes us to the most unimaginable places in our lives, businesses, careers and more.

I'm Amanda - awarded attorney, writer, entrepreneur and educator. I'm a partner and a parent, and the founder of Stoutegy Law, a law firm dedicated to helping women CEOs protect their companies, money and intellectual property. I've spent years working in globally-recognized law firms and brokered numerous hundred-million-dollar business deals. I've taught the curious minds of law students and elementary-school students alike.

Now, I'm here to spread a message to women about leveraging our value to go after what we want.
